

Universal Design of Instruction

Universal Design of Instruction is a framework focused on making learning available to all students regardless of needs or learning differences. Categories that need to be addressed within the framework included the visual design of the course, the use of media and media files within the course, the inclusion of accessible information about student support services, and the use of clear language about assignments, grading policies, etc.

Photo courtesy of Ilya Pavlov on Unsplash.